Was it inevitable—the death of Notorious B. I. G. When 2Pac was killed last September, it just seemed like it was only a matter of time before the hands of death would reach out and clutch Biggie Smalls. There were too many people here on the West Coast who were taking 2Pac's death to heart. There were too many people who felt like 2Pac was their representative and it was those disrespectin', playa hatin' rappers from New York City who had a hand in his untimely passing.
